

PETROS PAPAPETROPOULOS,

Assistant Professor

Studies:

Doctorate in Economic and Regional Development

[State and post-state policies in the distribution of income and wealth: a theoretical investigation],

Master of Urban and Regional Development,

Political Science and International Studies degree,

Diploma in Pedagogical sciences,

Graduate specializing in adult education.

Posts:

in the fields of Political Economy, Globalization, Behavior of socioeconomic subject, Place Marketing.

Professional experience:

Entrepreneurship, commerce, and administration.

Teaching expertise:

International Trade - International Economics, Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Public Economics, Political Economy, Managerial Economics, Financial Management, Consumer Behavior, Strategic Marketing, Public Relations, Advertising, Marketing Services, Regional development, Tourism economics.

In the current period, he teaches the subjects of Tourism economics, Managerial economics, Regional development and tourism at the Department of Tourism Management in the University of Patras

<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=w8axFEYAAAAJ&hl=en>